

Session Descriptions

Youth as an implementer rather than a stakeholder

The world now faces a situation in which it is necessary to contemplate survival before discussing growth, such as the climate crisis and COVID-19.

The youth generation, as creative and active actors, are exploring solutions to overcome this crisis facing humanity and the planet through various challenges and experiments in each community.

In addition, youth is a key player that supports ethical consumption and the social economy and pursues sustainability through solidarity and cooperation without discrimination and prejudice.

In this session, cases of how the youth generation leads social innovation in cooperation with various stakeholders such as the government, corporations, and civil societies are shared, and the essential elements for strengthening the impact ecosystem are viewed from the perspective of youth activists.

Program

TIME	Sequence	Presenter
15:30 - 15:40	Topic & speaker introduction	MC Jieun Kim SDG Facilitator SDSN Youth Korea
15:40 - 15:55	Presentation 1	"How youth innovators are solving social problems" Speaker YounSeo Jeon Reporter LIFEIN
15:55 - 16:10	Presentation 2	"Youth involvement in public policies and social economy for sustainable development" Speaker Margaret Kamau Regional Coordinator SDSN Youth Kenya
16:10 - 16:25	Presentation 3	"Best practice of Indonesian youth for carbon neutrality" Speaker Rahyang Nusantara National Coordinator GIDKP
16:25 - 17:05	Debate	"The youth ecosystem in the new-normal era, where and how should we move forward?" Moderator Dong-ryul KANG Network Manager SDSN Korea Panel Dain Won Chair YLPF Korea Panel Chanho Kim Chair YSDA Korea Panel Seungbin Lee Representative FUNCOMPANY
17:05 - 17:30	QnA & Closing	Additional remarks and Q&A